Based on her recent book, Dr Jenny Stephenson, a local GP, sorts through the battles and turf wars throughout history as these vital professions developed. Times of collaboration can be found as progress wends its way, bring us to the current standing of each in the NHS, working together for the good of the Public. It's a fascinating talk and covers areas from plants to poisons.

Each book sells entirely for charity (S6 Foodbank and a cancer charity) for £12 each and guaranteed a fascinating read.
